ABOUT ME

I am a dedicated developer with expertise in design and development of dynamic web applications that follows MVC and OOP model. A full stack developer with knowledge of the latest web technologies. Challenging moments are my best moments because I get to use my brain to its maximum level. I am good at breaking big problems into small manageable pieces. I love working with team, because I get to share knowledge across and learn new things. I'm a strategic thinker who's concerned about client's satisfaction
